He indignantly denies that he bit the latter, and says the referee was imposed upon by Chambers's story. He says he is ready to fight him again at one day's notice, and bet two to one on the result. He has deposited one thousand dollars with the stakeholder against five hundred, and wants Chambers to cover it. It is probable that another fight will be arranged in a day or two.

Charles O'Conor, in conversation yesterday said nothing would ever make him accept any nomination from any quarter for any office. He declares that he considers office-seeking one of the evils of the day and is very reticent on all political questions and avoids expressing his sentiments on Louis-ville, saying that his dispatches to the Convention, declining nomination but express ing sympathy with the movement, contained all he wished to say at present.

ILLINOIS.

The Times on Louisville-Strike of Coal

CHICAGO, September 6.—The Times this morning has a double-leaded editorial on the Louisville Convention. It says by the nomination of Charles O'Conor and J. Q. Adams for President and Vice President the Adams for President and Vice President the Convention exhibited wisdom and patriotism far beyond public expectation. Moreover, in its final action that convention retrieved its previous action from what would have been its greatest mistake. The Times goes on to eulogize Mr. O'Conor's letter refusing to be bound by any party or any platform or profession of party faith, and says he is the first candidate ever nominated for Conventions at Syracuse, New York, yesterday, agreed upon a ticket, the candidates for Lieutenant Governor and Prison Inspector being given to the Liberal Republicans. Francis Kernan was nominated for Governor, Chauncy M. De Pew Lieutenant Governor, and S. S. Cox for Congressman-at-Large.

by a party convention for President who did not acknowledge his obligations to the corrupt tyranny of party.

After further eulogy the Times says:

"This much truth demands shall be said in behalf of the new Democratic movement.

The Times had no agency in that movement, and its treatment of it as of all other public. and its treatment of it as of all other public and its treatment of it as of all other public movements, has been and will continue to be from the high standpoint of independent journalism, and of an earnest desire for the revival of true and pure Democratic principles. The Times believes with the force of an irresistable conviction, that Democratic principles are the only selection of liberty. To the ples are the only salvation of liberty. To the realization of this desire, much, the Times believes, is felt by all who are really Demobelieves, is felt by all who are really Demo-crats, the new movement, based as it is upon these unquestionable Democratic principles enunciated in Mr. O'Conor's letter, offers the most promising and available means at the present time, for it presents at once the only declaration of truly Democratic principles, and the only candidate who is sincerely and honestly in accord with them.

The Vermont Election-The Outlook in Maine-Post Office Prostitution-National Colored Greeley Convention,

Etc., Etc. [Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.] New YORK. September 5.—Mr. Stephen J. Meany, who has been taking a lively part in the Liberal canvass in Vermont, returned here to-day. He says that notwithstanding the Democratic National Committee sent no speakers into Vermont, the full returns will show a larger opposition water by considerable sent and the sent of the sent o show a larger opposition vote by several thousands than has been cast in Vermont since the Republican party was formed.

General Farnsworth, who has been making Liberal speeches in Maine, also returned to-day. He addressed large audiences every day last week, and speaks very hopefully of Mr. Kimball's chances to materially reduce the Republican majority. He says he is more popular than Governor Perham, and would certainly be elected if local issues were not overshadowed by the struggle for the Presidency. He believes that Pike, the Liberal candidate, will defeat Hale, the reg-ular Republican candidate for Congress.

An exciting canvass is taking place in Speaker Blaine's district, and General Farnsworth thinks the vote will be very close. He claims that Blaine is sustained by the Administration and that government patronage is freely used in his behalf.

[Special to the Cincinnati Enquirer.] The Journal of Commerce complains that in consequence of the post office being used as a mere political machine, the mails load-ed down with handbills, circulars, speeches ed down with handbills, circulars, speeches and other sensational matter to effect the election, prepared by salaried post office officials, and mailed by them under the frank of some partisan of the Administration, their proper work is neglected. In fact there is a general demoralization of the whole machinery of transportation and delivery.

The Bulletin quotes from the Philadelphia Press, Grant organ, an intimation that General Grant is pledged to veto any free trade or revenue reform bill that may be enacted by Congress. TENNESSEE, Lynching at Flerence, Alabama.

Memphis, September 6—The Appeal's special from Florence, Alabama, gives the following particulars of the lynching there yesterday morning; Between 1 and 2 Q'clock a guard of ten nen, well armed, stationed at the county jail for its defense and protection, were over-powered by an immense crowd, numbering 300 people, from this and adjoining counties, who fired over one hundred shots upon the guard, but fortunately not injuring any one. Then then broke in the outer door of the prison with sledge hammers and secured three prisoners, whom they, without a moment's delay, hung to a tree near by until they were dead. The affair was the result of a determination by the community to be rid of very bad characters.

Thomas Clark, one of the three, was unquestionably the worst in North Alabama. He had murdered, at different times, in the past few years, no less than twenty men, and in the most cruel and cold blooded manner. The other two have perpetrated 'many robberies in the past few days in Pulaski, Athens and Florence. They were traced to the vicinity of this town, and captured yesterday evening, with their tools, pistols and weapons. They were travelling with a very fine horse and buggy, and gold mounted harness. They were well dressed and had good gold watches and other stolen property which since the hanging have been identi led by the owners whom they had robbed Thieves will hereafter give Florence a wide berth. It was a rough remedy, this hanging, but will be attended by most wholesome consequences.

Robbed.

While the Indianapolis delegation was While the Indianapolis delegation was waiting at the Muncie depot, early this morning, for the coming of the express, which was reported over one hour behind time, Harry Bussey, of this city, laid down on one of the seats for a short nap, and while sleeping was robbed, by some anknown party, of a valuable gold watch and chain, valued at over $100. The loss is particularly vexatious, as the time keeper was a gift from his mother only a few weeks ago.

Sudden Death. Mr. R. Dipple, owner of the saloon at the eastern terminus of Virginia, avenue, died very suddenly last evening with the dropsy. He was in his saloon at six o'clock, and or dered a dish of soup, after eating which he went out into his back yard and expired almost instantly. His son, suspecting that all was not right, followed and found him lying dead in an out house. The deceased was strongly addicted to drink, which was probably indirectly the cause of his sudden death. Having had a presentment that he would die soon, he made his will some three weeks ago and has left his family well provided for.

The most val-uable have already been identified and re-moved by John Frick, grocer, and Messrs. Kettenbaugh & Bro., from whom they had been previously taken. Officer Lendormi seems to have been mainly instrumental in making this haul, and in bringing the Schaufners, father and son, to justice. To-day himself and Officer Richter chanced upon other discoveries, which may "pan out" some more of these vagrant operations. This forenoon Mayor Macauley held the defendants in $3,000 bail to answer to the Grand Jury. The son, Lewis, gave his father as surety, but at last accounts the father was having trouble in procuring acceptable bondsmen.

In the judgment of Gen. Tom. Browne every Liberal Republican is a dishonest

GEN. TOM. BROWNE will speak here next Tuesday evening. We wonder if he will tell his audience that no honest man will vote for Greeley. We wonder if he will reassert his claim to be the judge of every man's actions, the keeper of his con-

Ir is often urged by the opponents of civil service reform that if office holders are kept in office during good behavior it will build up an aristocracy. We know of nothing that will build up an aristocracy sooner than the amassing of a fortune without work. If any man comes nearer doing this than another, it is the incumbent of one of our county offices the income of which amounts to more than that of any Federal officer, the President not excepted.

THE office of County Commissioner is one of the most important the people are ever called on to fill, but usually very little attention is paid to it. It has always been customary here to give it to a farmer. It is thrown out as the country's quota, to keep peace in the political family. The County Commissioner has very great power, and in a wealthy and growing county like Marion, he has the control of a great deal of money. Would it not seem the part of wisdom then to select for this office a thorough business man, in whose capacity as well as integrity the people can have confidence? It is certainly time that this policy of filling up the Board with farmers was discontinued. A solid, substantial city man ought always to have a place on the Board.

A SALARY of five thousand dollars a year would amply repay the incumbent of any county office for his services. In most cases he would then be getting twice as much as he could make anywhere else. That salary would employ the best ability in the county. If the five principal officers received five thousand dollars per year and their fees and perquisites were the tax-pavers. This amount would pay the State tax nearly three times over. It would make a large reduction in the rate of taxation, which would be felt by every tax-payer in the county. The administrationists are opposed to making any change, and the people can have nothing to hope for from them. The Liberals are pledged to use all endeavors to pass a fee and salary bill.

A Good Beginning.

Within a couple of years this county has made a step upward in the path of political reform which we hope to see imitated all over the country. This has been done unwittingly, perhaps, but the effect is none the less good, and if the course is persisted in, the benefit is sure to increase We refer to the lifting of the judiciary out of the region of purely partisan politics. The Courts should be as free from the taint of politics as possible. They are for all men, of all parties, and the Democrat should get justice as soon as the Republican, and vice versa. The judge should be uninfluenced in any manner by politics. It would be better per haps if judges were not elected at all, in order that they might not enter into any scramble before the people for the office. But under the laws of this State the judges are not only elective but at very short intervals, and the positions are often hawked about or dealt out simply as matters of political favor and solely for the benefit of the party. This is demoralizing alike to the bench, bar and community. The standard of the judiciary is lowered, the purity of the Courts is tainted, and the regard for law is diminished among the people. In this county the necessity of an additional Court had been felt for years, and when at the last session of the Legislature the Superior Court was proposed and the Democratic members of the bar thought they ought to have some representative in it, it was agreed that the Legislature should establish it, if the Governor would appoint a Democrat one of the Judges and not make the bench purely partisan. This was done. The arrangement savored a little perhaps of politics, but it was the best way of reaching the point and has never been complained of. When the Liberal and Democratic county ticket was nominated this was remembered, and it was urged that then was the opportunity to continue a practice sure to result beneficially for the entire community. It was true Judge Blair had him by angered delegates, they prepared been nominated by his party for re-election, but he had given universal satisfac tion and was a man in whom all parties had confidence, and the reform in polities urged by the convention could be such a man on the bench. This view prevailed, and no nomination was made. Thus we have a spectacle, singular enough now-a-days, of one party nominating a candidate for the bench and the opposing party virtually indorsing their

But this reform has been still further aided by the Governor. A few days after this convention Judge Rand resigned. Several persons were at once suggested to fill the vacancy. Had Gov. Baker acted only for partisan purposes he might have midst of a heated political contest, when the lines were closely drawn, and when in accordance with party rules all preferment is to be used in strengthening the party, and had he followed all precedents the Governor would have appointed a Republican. Instead of that he appointed Judge Perkins, a Democrat, thus carrying out the original compact in the will give Zach. Chandler a far-off and deadly utmost good faith. This is, we say, a step upward and one which ought to be followed up.

A Ludicrous Failure.

The Louisville Convention, the great Convention of the Bourbon Straight-Outers, the Convention that was to restore the pure principles of Democracy upon the resolutions of '98, the Convention that was to beat Greeley and elect Grant, has come and gone, begun and ended, popped and fizzled. Considered in every light, it was certainly the most ludicrous performance that ever commanded national attention. The project had been sedulously nursed by the Aministrationists; they furnished the funds and the men, and they looked forward to it with the hope a drowning man looks forward to catching a log that he sees tossing up and down on the waves. They expected it to create a divertisement, which should take strength from the enemy and divide its forces. We are afraid they have been disappointed.

But we have nothing to do with the hopes and fears, the disappointments and sorrows of the Grantites. It is of the Louisville Convention we would sing. And first of the men getting it up, the men whose Democracy was too pure to tolerate Horace Greeley's candidacy. Most of them smack of the zeal of renegades. Blanton Duncan, the head and front, has belonged to numerous parties. He was a great Know-Nothing, and is charged with having been instrumental in creating the riots of "Bloody Monday," which make a very dark page in the history of Louisville. Rev. Chauncy Burr, of New Jersey, also a Know-Nothing, Brick Pomeroy, a foul-mouthed blackguard of Whig antecedents, Citizen Corry, of Cincinnati, an ancient Whig if we mistake not, Judge Lyons, of Virginia, a fossil that comes down to us from the Silurian age of the Republic, a blue-nosed Federalist probably. The body of the Convention would have rivalled Fallstaff's recruits. They were picked up any where and everywhere. Free tickets, clothes and other material inducements persuaded put into the treasury, it would save about many of them to attend. There were seventy-five thousand dollars annually to some honest men among them, men who eally believed in the object of the Convention, and thought they were doing humanity a service in resisting the encroachments of Liberalism. Then there was George Francis Train, who was admitted as a spectator, not as a delegate, Mr. Blanton Duncan explained. Then there were labor reformers tossed and buffeted from Columbus to Philadelphia from Davis to Greeley, possessed of the customary idea that their views were the views. Moreau was the prominent man from this State, Bazoo Brown not putting in an appearance for he could not have kept so remarkably quiet as to escape

Well, they met and wrangled and read O'Conor's letter. This production, -which is called remarkable, a description we agree with-this essay, which reminds us of a blind horse twisting around a post created consternation. But a blessed thought came to some one. Nominate O'Coner and make his letter the platform. Sagacious patriot. It was a platform no man could fathom. He might study over it till the election and then know no more To the Bourbon Democrat it contained sufficient mystification to produce admira tion. So O'Conor was nominated. Then they wrangled about something else, and while this was going on the Silurian Chairman rose and solemnly said: "Gentlemen, a change has come over the spirit of our dream." An apropos remark Dream indeed. O'Conor declined. Confusion reigned. He was renominated John Quincy Adams, a young man un troubled apparently by any political the ories or principles, an unhappy man whose lot is to run for office without a ghost of a chance, a political Sisyphus was put up for Vice-President. The la bor reformer urged his views. He was squelched. George Francis Train arose in the full consciousness of innocence He was escorted to the door. A Greeley man offered to remark. He was kicked out. Confusion again reigned and the Convention adjourned until the next day. This was the evening of the second day. That night half the Convention departed. A number remained. They resumed the meeting yesterday, passed resolutions made nominations, passed more resolu tions, adjourned, and then adopted snother batch of resolutions. But the saddest of all was the secession of the Louisiana delegation, three in number. Grieved to the soul by Mr. O'Conor's declination, and the epithets applied to a manifesto and withdrew. Under the blooming magnolia they will weep their lives away. We judge so from reading

We believe that the last hope of the Reaided in no better way than by keeping public rested with this Convention, To it is a matter of indifference whether Grant or Greeley succeeds. With sad hearts we foresee the death of Democratic principles and republican government. Let us pray to God that the impending revolution may be without blood. We came here in the spirit of fraternity, and in that spirit we depart m the majority of you.

The others are scattered. Most of them will vote for Grant as they always intended. The honest, well meaning Democrats will see there is no hope except to vote for Mr. Greeley. The impracticables, the mournful enthusiasts and the fossils will sit in metaphorical sack cloth appointed a Republican. It was in the and howl over the memories of old days.

THE SITUATION IN INDIANA. Senator Morton the Evil Genius of the State.

[From the Louisville Courier-Journal.] Private intelligence from Indiana disclose the fact that the most extraordinary means ever adopted to carry a State election are being adopted there. Money from the United States Treasury is scattered through every precinct and county with shameless profu ion. Unscrupulous Democrats are bought up and directed to operate through the Louisville Convention. The most elaborate system of colonization, by which negroes from Kentucky will be transported across the to. Many, it is said, have already gone over,

It might be well to take a glance at the man whose criminal genius is developing this plan and performing this wretched He is now across the river at at a New Albany hotel consulting with some of his Bourbon associates who have come to manipulate the Louisville Convention in the interest of his master, and his name is Oliver P. Morton. Of all the Aministra tion Senators, Morton is the ablest and niost deprayed. He is a man of quick and igorous parts, fertile of expedients and inscrupulous in the adoption of them. His mind is one of those which pierce labyrinths of sophistry, and splitting through masses of immaterial facts, lay bare the true point But he is constitutionally prone to the darker passions and his intellect is palpably affected by them. Its resources are more prolific and ts powers more vigorous when enlisted in the interests of evil than when directed fo the maintenance of good. "The devil, says the Earl of Leicester to his brave and wicked servant Varney, "has given you that kind of eloquence which is most effective in the worst causes." So it is with Morton Virtue would wilt even under his approving smile and honor itself would be sullied by his defense of it. His countenance and his voice mark the man. Impudence and feroc ity sit upon his brow. The subtlety of a fiendish malice glitters in his eye and plays along the savage lines of his mouth. He ex periences a voluptuous titillation at misery when it is entailed to further his objects. He is capable of rejoicing in the wail of brokenhearted despair when he knows it will in-crease his influence and prolong his power He has courage, but it is a courage braves infamy. He could easily act the part of a Ku-Klux, and before he could pluck his cursed steel away would have the effront to clamor loud for the mil ery itary dogs and the suspension of habeas cor-pus. He was once a Conservative and spoke against negro suffrage, but the President wanted a man who reverenced no law and was sensible to no shame, and he made haste to sell his forehead of brass and tongue of venom to a master whom he has since served faithfully and shamelessly. He is much of a demagogue but more of a Timour. He is Jeffreys and Dick Talbot in one. After having exhausted every species of sensual grati fication in his youth, after having drained the cup of sin even to its cankering dregs now in his older age, when the more venial passions of youth have subsided, self-collected, cool and unexcited, gathering up all his powers in unshrinking strength, he devotes them to the worst purposes and passions and what increases his guilt and our sorrow e has devoted them entire By such a leader the ultra Radicals of Indiana are being marshaled and disciplin Under such a leader they will appear on the day of the election. It may be judged what means will be resorted to to carry the State in the interest of the administration. It may be judged what necessity there is for earnest and unceasing work on the part of patriotic Liberals. They are hopeful, if not sanguine; but it is wicked to disguise the fact that extraordinary efforts must be made to counteract successfully such opposing and unscrupulous The shrewd use which Senator Morton has made of the immense fund under control of the Administration has had its effect, and this effect must be met and overcome Though the situation may be more cheering than otherwise, it is by no means as assuring as it should be. We speak thus plainly and We speak thus plainly and truthfully because the truth rarely harms a good cause, and because the over-sanguin should hear and heed it. Four Headless Men Dance a Quadrill in a Bride's Bed Chamber.

The following grotesquely horrible story translated from the Paris Figaro; This day eight days a wedding was cele-brated at A. A merchant's clerk, namen Marius Crampin, married a young gir of eighteen, called Anna R-R—— was an orphan from childhood, and had been educated by an old priest dead six months ago. Though she was very attractive and had a dowry of 50,000 francs—a respectable sum for a simple clerk—Crampin was far from jubilant when he left the Some of his friends, in fact, on hearing of his marriage, had sneered at the matter in rather a singular manner, without offering any explanations, and had declined to be present at the wedding. Besides, when the sacrifice was consummated, Crampin felt tormented by suspicions which before marri-age he had repelled with contempt. In order to dispel them he drank deep, and toward kee, Michigan. One cut several of his toes midnight he was pretty mellow. It was now The bride went first and extinguished the taper. bride rose hastily, and the two remained spell bound by terror at the frightful spec tacle before their eyes; for from the corners of the room emerged other three headless persons, all clothed in white but blood-bewinding sheets, each with a red antern in the one hand, and his head in the other. They stationed themselves in front of the fireplace and saluted the young couple in ceremonious manner. Then, strange to tell, they spoke. Crampin, in his terror whether the voice issued from the body or from the head. "Good day to you, citizen Crampin," said one of the headless beings; "I am Joseph Grigois, a client of the wife's great great grandfather. "Give me thy hand, Crampin," said the other, sneeringly; "Madame knows me too.

"What family, madame?" yelled Crampin, horrified, in the midst of his terror by the exclamation. As soon as he returned to himself, without taking time to pack his trunk, he precipitately left the town and has not The investigation of the police into this mysterious affair resulted in the discovery that the four guillotined persons were none others than the friends of Crampin, who had learned, one knows no how, of the unfortunate connections of the bride. #### A SCIENTIFIC LUNATIC.

A New System for the Transmission of Words.

Martin Arenskow, a Russian, who claims to be an adept in the art of mentography, or mind writing, has been at Long Branch endeavoring to obtain an audience of the President, with the view to illustrate his art and have it adopted by the government. He claims that his system is superior to the telegraph for the transmission of intelligence, and that spiritualism and mediums sink into insignificance compared to it. He failed to gain the ear of the President, and was advised to come here and try to meet him on nis arrival on Friday next.

Mr. Arenskow accordingly arrived here yesterday, and has been explaining to several persons the proposal he intends making to the President. He asserts that he possesses the power to so impress the mind of another instructed by himself, no matter what the distance may be between them, that the ideas which occupy his mind at the moment are comprehended by that person so thoroughly that he can write them down correctly and they will compare exactly word for word with his. He proposes to test this by having one of his students placed in the Patent Office, under charge of some official designated the purpose, and another in the Capitol. under similar regulations. The President is then to dictate a dispatch of one hundred words, which M. Arenskow is to be allowed to read, and he immediately exercises his alleged mind power on the students so placed at the points designated, and down what he communicates to them and hand the paper to the official in whose charge they may be placed. The documents so written White House by messen gers belonging to the offices named, and are to be opened by the President and compared with the dispatch dictated by himself, to see if all three agree, as this distinguished subject of the Czar claims they will.

It is gaid by some that the Russian is crazy, while others hold that there is "something" in his system. It is very doubtful, however that the President will give his aid to the project, and the inventor of it will have to levise some other mode of conveying the merits of his plan to the public. He declares it to be his intention to apply for a patent for his discovery or invention, as the case may be, in order that he may reap the bene fits of the immense revolution which he claims that it will create in the transmission of ideas from mind to mind.—[Washington Chronicle.

PETROLEUM IN ITALY.

Marquis Engaged in Boring for Oil. The following is an extract from a private letter written by an American now in Italy: "At Salso the Marchese della Rosa, who owns the baths, or at least rents them of the Government, took me to see the place where he is boring for petroleum. The country has very much the appearance of that around Oil City, and the Marchese said one could not stick a cane into the ground anywhere without finding traces of oil. A Mr. president of an oil company at home, had inspected the ground and assured the Marchese that he had 'a sure thing.' The work has now been carried down three hundred metres (about 1,000 feet) and oil has been found, but not in 'paying quantities.' The expense already incurred, the Marchese in formed me, is eighty thousand francs ($16, They are now 'in the rock,' and hope soon to find either petroleum or the particu lar salt that impregnates the waters of the baths. The Marchese said he would not go deeper than 500 metres. He also said that he was operating in the least expensive manner, without steam! I told him I did not think it cost $16,000 to put a well down one thousand feet in our oil region, cost of engine, etc., included.

Art in Japan. What has really astounded me more, perhaps, than anything here, is art. The little hands and arms of the Japanese seem to fit them for nice execution; but they would not make the pretty screens, or pictures, or inlay copper, or lacquer as they do, if taste did not accompany them. I have just seen a big boy, only thirteen years old, who is painting for foreigners Japanese costumes, and his ex-ecution is wonderful. The paper-hangings of Japan are unrivaled. I have seen nothing in the world, that I remember, which equals the famous fan-room of the Hamagoten in Yeddo. We, doubtless, got all our ideas of beautifying paper from Japan. The bronze work of this people is wonderful, as well as their lacquer. They put years of work often into a daimio's room. When we of English descent were barbarians in art, these people were all they are now. We see bells and bronzes, and inlaid work hundreds of years old. The iron and steel work of Japan, too, is far in advance of many "civilized" nations The famous Damascus steel, the renowned Toledo blade, does not surpass, if equal the steel sword of the Japanese officers. It may not bend as the Damascus blade, but it has a strength and tenacity beyond it.
The old armor of the old Japanese knights is wonderful work for the age and time. Their work in silk and satin is wonderful, and also in crape. These people, farming people, too, who use only the old.

What Rattlesnakes Are Good For.

It may not be generally known to our readers that snake poison is used for medicinal purposes in these days, and that, under the name of "Crotalus Horridus," the poison of the rattlesnake is utilized in homeoeopathic pharmacy. Messrs. Thompson & Capper, of Liverpool, having recently imported a number of rattlesnakes, abstracted the venom from the live animals in the following ingenious manner. The reptiles were in sepa-rate compartments of a case, fitted with a double lid for extra security. A long staff, which could be loosened or tightened by the hand at pleasure, was inserted through the partially opened lid, and the opportunity quickly seized of slipping the loop over the snake's head, the loop being immediately drawn tight by means of the cord attached thereto. With a similar contrivance the tail was next fastened, and the snake being thus securely held, was lifted out of the box to the floor of the room. A pickle bottle containing chloroform was then thrust over the snake's head, and carefully held in its place by keeping time with the animal's efforts to extricate itself. As the reptile became stupefied the noose was gradually relaxed to enable the lungs to have full play, and when it appeared powerless, the snake was laid in a long, narrow box made for the purpose, with an aperature at one end, out of which its head projected while the after operation was performed. Its jaws was then opened and fixed, and the poison glands were pressed with forceps, then with the gloved finger and thumb, while a small lown graduated phial was held to receive the drops as they oozed out through the poison fangs. Twenty drops were the average quantity yielded from each snake. The venom is of a straw color, thick and gummy in consistency, and decidedly acid in its reaction on litmus paper. It is readily soluble in glycerine or water, but is precipitated by strong alchol, the precipitate being redissolved, with the addition of a little water. Its toxicological properties were fully tried on a variety of animals. Half a drop produced death on a linnet within three minutes after being injected under the wing. The symptoms produced in all cases were very similar .- [Court Journal.

Summing Up.

From the New York Tribune.] One who has attentively read the speeches and editorials of the Renominationists for the last two months sums up their propositions as follows:

1. Greeley always was a Secessionist and 2. Greeley has turned his back on himself, and, in his mad quest of the Presidency, is now going against all that he has professed and advocated up to last year. 3. Greeley has turned Democratic and accepted the very principles which he has lways bitterly opposed. The Baltimore Convention sold out the Democratic party, turning it over to its bitterest, most implacable enemy.

There were no Liberal Republican represented at Cincinnati-only a few "sore heads" and disappointed office-seekers.

6. The Liberal Republicans have discovered that they were sold out at Cincinnati, and are returning to Grant in crowds. 7. Tens of thousands of Democrats, disgusted with Greeley's nomination, have come out for Grant. 8. The Straight Democrati (Bourbon) movement will draw votes from Greeley. none from Grant.

Greeley is the weakest candidate that could have been pitted against Grant. Though Grant alone could not beat Greeley, yet with a Bourbon running in his #### interest he will be able to do it. Japanese Paper.

The British consuls at the principal ports of Japan have recently given their government much valuable information in reference to the manufacture of paper in that empire. Various plants are cultivated there for the production of this indispensible article, chief among which is the paper mulberry, and is the principal source of supply. The kiji tree is used for the same purpose. It resembles the American willow. Paper can be made from the bark of either tree at a cheaper rate than any equally good material that we now use. The paper mulberry has been planted on the grounds of the Agricultural Department at Washington, and it flourishes equally as well as the Chinese mulberry. In Japan the paper manufacturmulberry. In Japan the paper manufactur-ed from this plant is also manipulated so as to resemble leather and water proof cloth, and possess all their qualities, even with standing the heat of the charcoal fire. Oiled, it is used for rain coats, and as a substitute for glass. It is to be regretted that the method of manufacturing has not been obtained by some of our consular agents. The variety of purposes to which paper is applied in the Japanese Empire is wonderful.

The Prayer Gauge.

Nearly every religious paper in the United States has commented on the proposed 'prayer-gauge," as an English review Their treatment of it is not of the fairest kind. The proposition was this: Let us take a certain ward in a certian hospital and concentrate the prayers of Christendom on its inmates; then if any prayer is of any effect, the patients in that ward will recover more quickly, and in greater numbers, than those in any other similarly situated ward. To this the religious press says: If we pray with the design of testing God we shall avail nothing, for he does not answer such prayer. But Christians would not do this. They would have faith in the answering of their petitions, if they believe their creeds. This objection does not seem fair. It begs the question.—[Chicago Tribune.

What the South Might Do.

That the Southern States under honest rule might rise to a condition of unexampled prosperity is apparent from certain facts furnished by Mr. David Christy, in a letter to the Battimore Sun. Mr. Christy shows that in the five years of freedom immediately following the war the South received more for cotton than during the five years preceding the war. In 1860, 1,767,686,000 pounds were exported, for which $191,800,000 was received. In 1866, but 650,575,829 pounds were exported, but, owing to the increased price, $281,375,000 was received. In 1870, the total export was over 960,000,000 pounds, which brought over $227,000,000. And yet good land can be purchased in the South for from eighteen cents to five dollars an acre. While the profits of the planters are garnered into the exchequers of Grant's carpet-bag plunderers.

BILLIARDISTIC WOOL-GATEERING.

MATCH FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP BETWEEN GARRATT AND GARST AT MUNCIE.

The Indianapolitan is Shorn.

The Indianapolis delegation may be said to-day to be scattered along the country roads leading towards Indianapolis, for the night preceding was one of disaster to them and of profit to the Delawareites. The match between Garratt and Garst has excited not only interest in what may be strictly termed "billiard circles," but among all who indulge in this fascinating game, and consequently a considerable number of amateurs and professionals accompanied Garratt to what they expected would be the scene of an easy triumph. That they have been doomed to much chewing of the bitter cud the appended sketch of the game will show.

The Indianapolis delegation was met at the Muncie depot by the champion Garst, and by him escorted to "Erwin's," the head centre of Muncie spirit-1sms. After "those things" at Erwin's came supper at Kirby's, and then an adjournment to. Walling's Hall, where the match was played.

Muncie turned out a host of friends for Charley Garst, who were present during the playing, and by cheering got in their work as far as possible, and encouraged their fellow townsman. The Indianapolitans numbered not many, but they were "chuck full" of cheek and money, and offered odds on their favorite, with no takers. At 8:10 John Huegele, Treasurer of-shall we call it-"the State Billiard Association, jr.?" announced the game, 1,500 points up, caroms, for the champion badge and $100; and the contestants at once pulled their surplus raiment and prepared for business. To gladden and encourage them, a large number of ladies were present, who by their sparkling eyes and animated gestures, evidently thoroughly enjoyed "ye noble game" and were not caring very much which one of the good looking and vigorous players came off best. If there was any leaning, it was not in favor of the boy from Marion. Operations commenced by announcing umpires and selecting a referee. Charles Mitta was called upon to represent Garratt's interest; Garat selected Thaddeus Neely, Esq., and the two then agreed upon Thomas Mullen, of Champaigne, Illinois, as referee, and Harry Bussey, of Indianapolis, marker. In the "string" for the "lead," after one tie. Garratt won the "bank," and laid off for his opponent, who shot and missed. Garratt then made a simple carom, scratched the second, and missed the third; the easiest of all. The balls broke badly for both up till seventh inning, when Garst got in a splendid run of 99, following it shortly after with 180 75 and 96, besides several smaller runs, which gave him a handsome lead. Garratt played with wretched luck, hardly ever scoring 18, until the twentieth inning, when the hopes of his backers brightened up a little by a run of 72, the majority excellent plays. On this inning Garratt was 246, and his opponent 369 ahead. The Muncie lad played fat oysters. D. DeRuiter has made all neces with a nerve and a dash which astonished the visitors from abroad, making the most difficult cushions with ease, and constantly increasing the odds between himself and his opponent. The ivories ran in his favor very much. Garratt, Sr., began to think there was Block.

something the matter with "his Jake," and dyspeptic hue commenced overspreading the countenances of those who were depending upon Garratt's success for money to meet expenses. Jack showed his usual nerve, but the balls wouldn't roll, and the most exasperating kisses kept popping in when not were rained beyond recovery. On the twenty-sixth inning Garst increased his lead of Mr. Cutter. to 480, and on the thirty-third inning the score stood 1,005 to his opponent's 441. The following inning he added a run of 114, and by this time Garratt seemed to realize the imperative necessity of getting in his work. By cool and systematic playing, during which he made many most beautiful and difficult shots, he scored 84, following it immediately after with 69, and then with 276. Under the circumstances this was a prodigious run, the major portion regular up hill work, and the Muncieites commenced to look blue, although their man was several hundred ahead. Garratt followed up these with runs of 63, 105 and 141; making in five innings 738 points; which may be considered a tremendous rally on the home stretch. In the intervals, however, Garst managed to get in little scores of 33, 54, 57, 30 and 69, which on his end weighed something like a ton, and made the load too heavy for the Indianapolitan to counteract. In the four closing runs Garratt could only get 93, which increased his score to 1,252; and it was at this figure that Garst wound up his end with the full complement of 1,500. We append be-

Time of game, 2:55; Garst's average, 32 29-46; Garratt's, 27 37-45. The "Witches of New York" will open at low the runs made.

A peculiarity of this match was the almost total absence of "fouls"-only two being made throughout the game, and those by Garst, who played before the ball had stopped rolling. The referee was of little force, but it fortunately happened that his services were seldom called into requisition, and as the contestants were manly and courteous towards one another, the spectators were delighted with a thoroughly square game; and they evinced their appreciation very impartially, for a beautiful play from either party was sure to call forth vigorous and universal applause.

By the average it will be seen that Garst played a rattling game, and had the opening runs been good ones, it would have proved the finest one ever made in any State match. Garratt had three disadvantages to contend against; first, the cushions, although not 'dead," were flat when compared with the active ones he has been playing upon of late: second, the light was inferior-coal oil instead of gas-the disadvantages of which Garst knew better how to guard against, he using that kind of light altogether. But the third and most essential thing, Garratt had under estimated the skill of his antagonist, and consequently had paid but little attention to his preliminary practice. The Muncie man as a brilliant player, and his strength lies in "round the table" and "cushion shots." The most difficult angles he plays for with consumate ease, and generally makes. Getting the ivories together is with him of very little consequence, for he can't hold them when they are grouped. Garratt, on the contrary, is great on nursing, and in playing for position, and in that run of 276 he managed to collect all the balls in some one of the corners a half dozen times, where he handled them with an adroitness that meant mischief.

When the men strung for the lead on the opening of game, there was a look of business about the Muncie lad that made Gar ratt's friends a little slow about offering any odds of more than two to one on their favorite, and even this the Delaware county men were slow to take. As the game progressed, however, they commenced brightening up and the Indianapolitans correspondingly, "let down," until "4 to 1 on the Muncie man" failed to make them come to time. There wasn't very much money changed hands probably not more than $200-but that was sufficient among some to elicit anxious inquiries about the condition of the gravel roads leading from Delaware to Marion

After the conclusion of the game, and the lung-exhausting of the Muncie men, who cheered and yelled until every man, woman and child in that village were awakened, an adjournment was made to Erwin's, and for the respective hotels. Garst, out of sympathy, opened an oyster lunch for his visitors. as it was a little doubtful when they would get another square meal, but your reporter preferred to seek his room and "nap" it until train time. Himself and an Indianapolitan had been assigned to the same apartment, but during their absence it was captured by a third party. The alternative was offered of "sitting up" or lying down on a chair. As a novelty the last mentioned was chosen; per consequence to-day your reporter feels very much like Artemus Ward's threshing nachine victim

OF THE

Liberal Republican Convention.

Held at Cincinnati, May 1, 2 and 3, 1872.

Official Copy.

Address to the People of the United

The Administration now in power has rendered itself guilty of wanton disregard of the laws of the land, and of usurping powers not granted by the Constitution; it has acted as if the laws had binding force only for those who are governed, and not for those govern. It has thus struck a blow at the fundamental principles of Constitutional Government, and the liberties of the citizen.

The President of the United States has penly used the powers and opportunities of his high office for the promotion of personal

He has kept notoriously corrupt and unworthy men in places of power and respon-sibility, to the detriment of the public in-

He has used the public service of the Gov ernment as a machinery of corruption and personal influence, and has interfered, with yrannical arrogance, in the political affairs of States and municipalities.
He has rewarded with influential and lucrative offices men who had acquired his favor by valuable presents, thus stimulating the demoralization of our polstical life by his conspicuous example.

He has shown himself deplorably unequal to the tasks imposed upon him by the ne cessities of the country, and culpably care-less of the responsibilities of his high office. The partisans of the Administration, as suming to be the Republican party, and controlling its organization, have attempted to justify such wrongs, and palliate such abuses, to the end of maintaining partisan scendency. They have stood in the way of necessary investigations and indispensable reforms, pretending that no serious fault could be ound with the present administration of public affairs, thus seeking to blind the eyes of the people.

They have kept alive the passions and re entments of the late civil war, to use them for their own advantage; they have resorted to arbitrary measures in direct conflict with the organic law, instead of appealing to the better instincts of the Southern people by restoring to them these rights, the enjoy ment of which is so indispensable to a suc-cessful administration of their local affairs, and would tend to revive a patriotic and hopeful national teeling.

They have degraded themselves and the name of their party, once justly entitled to the confidence of the nation, by a base sycophancy to the dispenser of executive power and patronage, unworthy of Republican freemen; they have sought to silence the voice of just criticism and stifle the moral sense of the people, and to subjugate public opinion by tyrannical party discipline.

Believing that an organization thus led and controlled can no longer be of service to the best interests of the Republic, we have resolved to make an independent appeal to the sober judgment, conscience and patriotism of the American people.

RESOLUTIONS. We, the Liberal Republicans of the United States in National Convention assembled at Cincinnati, proclaim the following principles as essential to just government:

1. We recognize the equality of all men before the law, and hold that it is the duty of government, in its dealings with the peo to mete out equal and exact justice to all, of whatever nativity, race, color, or per-suasion, religious or political. 2. We pledge ourselves to maintain the Union of these States, emancipation and enfrancisement; and to oppose any reopening of the questions settled by the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fitteenth Amendments of the Constitution.

We demand the immediate and absolute removal of all disabilities imposed on account of the rebellion which was finally subdued seven years ago, believing that uni-versal amnesty will result in complete pacifieation in all sections of the country. 4. Local self government, with impartial suffrage, will guard the rights of all citizens more securely than any centralized power. The public welfare requires the supremacy of the civil over the military authority, and edom of person under the protection of the habeas corpus. We demand for the individual the largest liberty consistent with public order, for the State self-government, and for the nation a return to the methods of peace and the constitutional limitations of power.

ization dongerous to the perpetuity of re-

6. We therefore regard a thorough retorm of the Civil Sevice as one of the most pressing necessities of the hour; that honesty, capac ity, and fidelity constitute the only valid claims to public employment; that the offices of the government cases to be a matter of arbitrary favoritism and patronage, and that public station shall become again a place of honor. To this end it is imperatively required that no President shall be a candidate or re-election.

Greeley's Letter of Acceptance

NEW CORK. May 30, 1872 GENTLEMEN-I have chosen not to answer your letter of the 3d inst. until I could learn how the work of your convention was received in all parts of our great country; and judge whether that work was approved and ratified by the mass of our fellow citizens. Their responses from day to day reached me through telegrams, letters, and comments of journalists independent of official patronage, and indifferent to smiles or frowns of power. The number and character of these unconstrained, unpurchased, unsolicited utter-ances satisfy me that the movement which found expression at Cincinnati has received the stamp of public approval, and been hailed by a majority of our country as the har-binger of a better day for the Republic.

I do not misinterpret this approval as especially complimentary to myself, nor even to the chivalrous and justly esteemed gentleman with whose name I thank your convention for associating mine. I receive and welcome # as a spontaneous and deserved tribute to the admirable platform of principles wherein your convention so tersely, so lucidly, so forcibly, set forth convictions which impelled and purposes which guided its course. A platform which, casting behind it the wreck and rubbish of worn out contentions and by-gone feuds, embodies in fit and few words the needs and aspirations of to-day. Though thousands stand ready to condemn your every act, hardly a syllable of criticism or cavil has been aimed at your platform, of which the substance may be fairly epitomised as follows:

All political rights and franchises 1. All political rights and franchises which have been acquired though our late bloody convulsion must and shall be guar anteed, maintained, enjoyed and respected evermore.

2. All political rights and franchise which have been established through that convulsion should and must be promptly restored and re-established, so that there shall be henceforth no proscribed class, and no disfranchised caste within the limits of our Union, whose long-estranged people shall reunite and fraternize upon the basis of universal amnesty with impartial

3. That subject to our solemn constitutional obligation to maintain the equal rights of all citizens, our policy should aim at local self-government, and not at centralization; that the civil authority should be supreme over the military; that the writ of habeas corpus should be jealously upheld as a safeguard of personal freedom; that the ndividual citizen should enjoy the larges iberty consistent with public order, and that there shall be no Federal subversion of the internal policy of the several States and Municipalities, but that each shall be left free to enforce the rights and promote the well-being of its inhabitants, by such means as the judgment of its own people shall pre scribe.

4. There shall be a real, and not merely simulated reform, in the civil service of the Republic, to which end it is indispensable that the chief dispenser of its vast official patronage shall be shielded from the main temptation to use his power selfishly, by a rule inexorably forbidding and precluding his re-election.

as soldiers or sailors upheld and maintained the unity of the Republic, shall ever be gratefully remembered and honorably requited. These propositions, so ably and honorably and forcibly presented in the platform of your convention, have already fixed, the at tention and commanded the assent of a large majority of our countrymen who fully adopt them, as I do, as the basis of true, beneficent, national reconstruction, o a new departure from the jealousies and strifes and hates which have no longer adequate motive, or even plausible pretext, into an atmosphere of peace, fraternity and mutual good will.

It is a scandal and reproach upon free institutions, and breeds a demorphism demonstrate that the masses of our countrymen, North and South, are eager to clasp hands across the bloody chasm which has too long divided them, forgetting that they have been ene-mies in the joyful consciousness that they are and must henceforth remain brothers.

THE CITY,

For Sale.

A well known gentleman, of this city, last week visited New York, and while there was approached by a Grant official and given three railway tickets to the Louisville Convention; one to be used by himself, and the others by two friends whom he was earnestly besought to take along as delegates. The Indianapolis gentleman used one to return to this city, and has the other two tickets still in his possession, which he is willing to sell cheap to some Grant official. Will anybody bid?

Grocers' Blacklist.

The coalition which was entered into recently by the retail grocers to protect themselves from being further imposed upon by men who were able but not willing to pay their honest debts has resulted in the publishing of the names of such men in pamphlet form to be used for reference by the grocers. Opposite the name of each man is given his occupation or place of business and among the list are several prominent citizens, to whose names are attached such epithets as "dead beats," "confidence men," etc. The pamphlet has some twelve hundred names. and is to be published monthly.

Roard of Trade Election.

The Board of Trade, several days ago, held an election of officers, but at the selections made caused some interests to be unrepresented several gentlemen tendered their resignations and a new election was held yesterday. The officers now consist of : President-Hon. John C. Wright.

Vice Presidents—David Gibson, Thomas D.
Kingan, John Carlilse.
Board of Directors—C. C. Gale, W. P. Gallup, J. C. Ferguson, J. D. Vinnedge, L. W. Hasselman, J. A. Perkins, W. D. Wiles, In-gram Fletcher, Frank Landers.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board J. Rarnard was unanimously chosen Secretary and H. G. Carey Treasurer. The regular committees were then announced as follows:

Committee of Arbitration-J. J. Hayden, Chairman, Charles Myers, S. V. B. Noel, William Braden, Andrew Wallace. Chosen to serve for three months. Committee of Appeals—D. M. Berry, Chairman, J. E. Robertson, T. H. Lewis, Oliver Tousey, J. C. Green. Chosen to serve for three months.

Railroad Committee—George
Chairman, J. E. Simpson, Wood
N. Andrews, William Mitchell.

Chosen to serve for three months.

Change of Voting Places. For some days past petitions have been cirnlated among the business men, irrespective of party, praying the County Commissioners to reconsider their late action in establishing the places for voting in this township at the Court House, and to locate the same within the several precincts where the voters reside. These petitions have met with very general approval, and this forenoon Frank Landers. Esq. presented the same to the Commissioners, signed by a large number of leading citizens. He also presented an opinion by Messrs, A. W. Hendricks, Oscar B. Hord, N. B. Taylor, F. Rand and Edwin Taylor, eminent legal gentlemen, setting forth in substance that the place of holding elections for Center township, as it now stands, is illegal. and that if it is not so altered as that the voting shall be done within the respective precincts, the township, including the city, will be deprived of its voice in the coming

Mr. Landers, in presenting the foregoing, called attention to the very general dissatisfaction expressed against the former action of the Board, and he believed the rights of their petitioners demanded that their request should at least be carefully considered and promptly acted upon. The Court House space would not accommodate the voters that would turn out; it would give less chance to the ward men to "spot" illegal ballots, and there would also be more danger of personal collisions. Messrs. Armstrong and Rumford, the only members of the Board present, received the documents and promised to act as soon as possible; but from their manner it is fair to presume they did not look upon them with any sympathy. It remains to be seen whether even these weighty petitions and legal papers will influence the Commissioners towards aiding this township in securing a fair vote.

A CARD.

"Simply Filling Boilers," To the Editor of The Evening News:

If There is one statement in John Carlisle's card, in yesterday's News, that needs explation. When his man was found filling his boilers from a public fire plug, complaint was filed against him for that offence under the city ordinance. After the complaint was filed. We Carliele came to meet the estimate for iled, Mr. Carlisle came to me to any damage he had done. I told him the matter was then beyond my control—that complaint had already been filed, and the case was then in the hands of the court. I also told him that if he had come to the office before taking the water I could have arranged to supply him at reasonable rates, and would have been glad to do so, but that it was then too late for me to control.

This complaint against Mr. Carlisle was or using and tampering with the public fire plugs without authority-it was not for the value of the water taken, nor for the penalty for taking water from the water pipes without authority-for these two offences Mr. Carlisle is still liable to the Water Company, and if that company was as ready to prosecute him as he has been t malign and vilify the company on all occasions, they would have commenced action against him refore the sun went down

If a citizen had gone to Mr. Carlisle's mill and taken 300 or 400 pounds of flour without his knowledge or consent he would probably have considered it stealing-but when Mr. Carlisle goes to our water pipes and takes water to fill his boilers or for any other purpose, without applying for authority and paying a fair remuneration to the company that own the water, and has been at a heavy outlay to place it there, John Carlisle may call it "simply putting 300 or 400 gallons of water in his boiler"—the laws and judges of riminal courts don't call it by that name. In regard to Mr. John Carlisle's statements about City Attorney Harvey, the Court, the members of the City Council, the fact that I was not permitted to answer questions having no reference to the case, or the quality of the water furnished. they are in character with other charges made by Mr. Carlisle on the streets, in cards, and on the witness stand, and are alike unworthy any of consideration or attention. JOHN R. ELDER.

BUSINESS NOTIONA.

Founded on a Rock!

The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless potions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, yow the thou against brake's Plantation Bitters, yow that they can not understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The, explanation is simple, enough. The reputation of the world renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorless trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile Plantation Bitters seem to be in a fair way of eventually superseding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it belongs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, fever and ague, rheumatism, and all ailments involving a deficiency of vital power. they can not understand what foundation there

What is Dirt?

Old Dr. Cooper, of South Carolina, used to say to his students: "Don't be afraid of dirt, young gentlemen. What is dirt? nothing at all offensive, when chemically viewed. Rub a little alkali upon the dirty grease spots on your coat and it undergoes a chemical change and becomes soap; now rub it with a little water and it disappears. It is neither grease, soap, water nor dirt. That is not a very odorous pile of dirt you see yonder; well, scatter a little gypsum over it and it is no longer dirty. Everything like dirt is worthy our notice as students of chemistry. Analyse it it will separate into very clean elements. Dirt makes corn, corn makes bread and meat, and that makes a very sweet young lady that I saw one of you kissing last night. So after all, you were kissing dirt, particularly if she whitened her face with chalk or fuller's earth, though I may say that rubbing such stuff on the beautiful skin of a young lady is a dirty practice. Pearl powder I think is made of bismuth, ng but dirt. Lord Palmerston's fine definition of dirt is 'matter in the wrong place.' Put it in the right place and we ase to think of it as dirt.'
